

Defence Viewpoints welcomes English-language submissions for publication from postgraduates.

These should be 1000 words plus, their own original work, on any subject related to defence and security anywhere.

The editor's decision is final even if he doesn't recognise genius. Telling him something he doesn't know and which is written in an interesting and lively way is a good strategy. References are not generally necessary. If needed they should be at the bottom of the article, not page.

Send submissions in Word format to robin@ukdf.org.uk with a sentence about your qualifications at the foot.
